It depends on the number of women who sign up for the retreat. In addition to the dining room there is an upstairs meeting room and entry lounge, with a woodburning stove. The main focal point of Agape is Charlotte's Room, with its unusual shaped walls of glass and unique ceiling lighting. Linens will be provided and meal service is included.

Women's Retreat November 10-12 or Day Retreat November 11

From the young mother juggling work and family life to the retired senior, there just doesn't seem to be enough hours in the day to do everything—let alone be still before God and discover God's real plan for your life.

Women are invited to Holmes to reconnect with God and discover their beautiful God moments unfolding right before their eyes. The weekend retreat will be filled with centering prayer, labyrinth walks, outdoor hikes, quiet journaling time and of course, wonderful fellowship. It's time to start finding peace in the chaos of life and learn how to live always in those beautiful God moments.

The Reverend Donna Frischknecht Jackson knows a thing or two about living in the God moment. Once a New York City magazine editor now turned Presbyterian minister, Donna left behind her heels in 2007 for good old barn boots when she took a call to a rural church in Upstate New York on the border of Vermont. A graduate from Princeton Theological Seminary, Donna has been ordained for ten years and is once again rediscovering God's call in her life. She left a traditional church as a full-time solo pastor in Maryland in November 2016 to move back to her 18th century Vermont home. There with her husband, Paul, and Bernese Mountain dog, she writes her blog (www.accidentalcountrypastor.com), is interim editor of Presbyterians Today magazine, is exploring a new worshipping community and guest preaches for the country churches in the area. With her "free time" she has discovered the joy of quilting and taking long prayer walks in Vermont's Green Mountains. Oh, and she hopes to one day have a goat or two.
